

New Brunswick Human Rights Commission issues new Guideline on Accommodating Students with Disabilities

The NB Human Rights Commission has issued a guideline setting out the approach the commission expects to be taken to deal with possible complaints under the Human Rights Code. A full copy of the ‘Guideline’ can be obtained on line. The Commission will be holding information sessions for educators and parents in the coming week. The commission guideline includes a graphic flow chart to illustrate the effort to make accommodation work for students with disabilities. The Ontario Human Rights Commission also has a ‘guideline’ available on their website.
