

Our Network of Resource People

CACL is working to create and maintain a National Network of people who can work together to build and share knowledge about inclusive education.

We can assist you in Training, Consultation, Collaboration, Strategic Planning Evaluation and more.

Inclusive schooling is a key component in building inclusive futures for children with intellectual disabilities and other special needs.

Our network can offer you support in the move forward to inclusive education practices in your community, schools and classrooms.

TRAINING –

- Teachers; resource or support teachers; school leaders including principals, supervisors and district or board staff;
- Parents, agency staff, advocates;
 - Keynote and conference speakers;
 - One or two day seminars on specific topics;
 - Week long institutes;
 - Individually developed training.

CONSULTATION & COLLABORATION – we can arrange consultation with one or more stakeholder groups to move inclusion forwards

STRATEGIC PLANNING – we can work with your group to develop a strategic plan based on “best practices” to develop successful inclusive education programs in your community.

EVALUATION – we can establish a team to review educational practices in a school, a board or district and provide evaluation and feedback.

OTHER SUPPORTS as needed by parents, associations, school and educational institutions.
